

CRISIS, A CATALYST FOR CHANGE! EXPLORING HOW EMERGENCIES CAN ACCELERATE GENDER JUSTICE

YOU'RE INVITED

Crises often deepen inequalities, but can also catalyze transformation. They can be a catalyst for positive change: a chance to build back better and challenge harmful gender constructs. Join women's rights organizations on the frontlines of emergency response in the Global South to hear how their innovative humanitarian approaches, knowledge, and expertise achieve true gender justice. Join a discussion on the risks they take to deliver essential services to women, girls and marginalized people in their communities; and how revolutionizing funding systems is essential to dismantling systemic drivers of inequality, using crises to accelerate equality and human rights.

This event is co-hosted by the Feminist Humanitarian Network, #WeAreUnProtected and Kid's Educational Engagement Project (Liberia) and New Women Connectors.
